As Training Manager for Citadel Completions, Sunshine Dickson shares, "Our team went above and beyond to achieve the prestigious FAA Diamond Award recognition for 2022. This was the first year for us to receive this honor due to the hard work of our employees who completed the FAA Safety Aviation Maintenance Technician (AMT) Award program. Each individual passed ethics training, logged their maintenance hours and received their own FAA Safety Awards. As a company and as a team, we strive to serve our customers with excellence, and this honor is testament to that mission – excellence is at the heart of everything we do!"
